Air pollution

 Air pollution is one of the most important environmental problem which involves all the population living in the European Union, so we have to try to find some of the possible solutions to the problem all together.

 For example they could be the promoting use of electrical transport and low-pollutant waste disposal.

Insufficient salaries

- In Europe most of the people have bad pay.
- The companies like to cheap labor, in Hungary teacher have bad pay too.
- That's why retired people not have enought money to what retired people they wanna do.

- More workplaces is our opinion, they work more and the pensions is more than now.
- More companies in the country. Make a new businesses opportunity.
